About the Institute

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library.

AN ALPHABETICAL INDEX FOR REFERENCE.

BY THE REV. JOHN PLATTS,

Author of the New Self-Interpreting Testament, &c. &c.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IN announcing a NEW UNIVERSAL BIOGRAPHY, it is needless to expatiate on a Subject so interesting and important in itself as Biography confessedly is, though it is highly requisite that its Compiler should give ample and satisfactory reasons to the Reading Public, for submitting a new work to their attention.

The principal advantages of this "NEW BIOGRAPHY" over all other works of a similar nature, will be found—1st, in the completeness of its reference; there being at present, no work on the subject, but what will frequently disappoint the reader who has occasion to refer to its contents, inasmuch as many hundreds of names, of frequent recurrence to the mind, are not to be found in any such collection.

2nd. The arrangement of this Work is altogether NOVEL, differing herein very essentially from all other "GENERAL BIOGRAPHIES;" which, being arranged on the Alphabetical Plan, are attended with every possible disadvantage, except that of ready reference, to which accommodation are of necessity sacrificed all those more important advantages arising from a chronological and classified mode of disposal.

*In a merely alphabetical disposition, the subjects presented to view are generally so opposite and so incongruous, that no reader, however patient, can long proceed in a continuous course of reading, without experiencing displeasure and fatigue; and, even if he did continue it, such reading would be so irregular and inconsequent, as to be altogether destitute of the benefits resulting from a more systematic arrangement. In the alphabetical order of position, every article stands unconnected and isolated; no part strengthens and illustrates another; the whole is, in fact, but one large index; a confused mass, a complete chaos, of unconnected and heterogeneous parts, jumbled together without system, without order, without reason, and every succeeding edition completely destroying the preceding one. See the *Review of Aikin's General Biography in the Monthly Review.

NEW UNIVERSAL BIOGRAPHY.

To reduce these discordant materials to something like order and harmony, is the grand object of this "NEW BIOGRAPHY." The convenience of reference will be fully preserved by an ample General Index, so that every defect of former works will be remedied, without risking a single advantage. In order that the reference from the Alphabetical Index may be as perfect as possible, every Article will be rendered complete in itself, the same as in the Dictionaries.

In the classification of the subjects, considerable difficulties must, from the very nature of the undertaking, inevitably occur. The Compiler has, therefore, only attempted a General Classification; and the plan he has acted upon has been to place every Person in that class in which he appeared most eminent. A variety of subdivisions might have been formed, and many minute distinctions made, which he has neglected, preferring a general to a particular division, as well on account of its simplicity, as its answering every useful purpose, an extreme minuteness ultimately tending to perplexity.

The Work is divided into convenient Chronological Periods, and the Characters are so classed in each period, that the progress of Government, Law, Philosophy, Science and Inventions, Literature, Religion, History, Biography, Antiquities, Geography, Travelling, Navigation, Music, Mathematics, Astronomy, Painting, Architecture, Sculpture, Medicine, &c. &c. may be distinctly traced from the first of time, through every succeeding age, to the present period of human existence; the entire Work being subdivided into separate portions, according with the following

S C H E M E.

Series.

I. From the Creation, to the Birth of Christ.

This portion of the work is divided into fifteen chronological periods, each preceded by a summary of the most remarkable facts, events, and discoveries, connected by Biography; and is comprised within one volume of 750 pages.

II. From the Birth of Christ, to the Reformation.

This Series forms two volumes, comprehending together 1240 pages;

III. The Biography of the Fifteenth and sixteenth Centuries.

This Series, which is in considerable progress, at press, is expected to form four such volumes.]

IV. Ditto Seventeenth Century, expected to be comprised also in four volumes.

V. The Eighteenth Century, is also expected to form four volumes.

Each Volume will be accompanied with its separate Index, distinctly from the General Index; so that either Series, on being purchased separately from the others, will, of itself, form a complete work, for the period of time which it embraces.

Besides the advantages already enumerated, it will be perceived by the above outline, that the "NEW UNIVERSAL BIOGRAPHY" will form a medium both in size and quantity between the more voluminous and the smaller Biographical Dictionaries, which it is hoped will meet the public approbation, the former being too heavy for general convenience, and the latter too superficial for general utility.

The Compiler flatters himself, that this Work will not disappoint the expectations even of the most fastidious reader; but, that it will form an orderly, useful, and entertaining History of Man. As an exemplification of the diligence with which it has been prosecuted, it may here be stated, that it will comprise more than double the number of names contained in any other collection; and thus, in point of reference, form the most comprehensive General Biography extant.

The first Series of the above Work, comprehending the interval from the Creation to the Birth of Christ, is just published, price 18s. in boards; or, if preferred, it may be had in Monthly Parts, each containing twelve sheets, price 4s. 6d. This portion of the work, agreeably with the above Scheme, is complete in itself, comprehending the whole of Scripture and Ancient Biography to the time of our Saviour. The remaining portions will be continued regularly in Monthly Parts and Quarterly Volumes; the Monthly Parts to be published with the Magazines on the 1st of every month.

A NEW AND COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM

OF

MODERN GEOGRAPHY,

MATHEMATICAL, PHYSICAL, POLITICAL, and COMMERCIAL;

Being a perspicuous Delineation of the present State of the Globe,
with its Inhabitants and Productions;

PRECEDED BY THE HISTORY OF THE SCIENCE,

And accompanied with a Series of correct coloured Maps, which form a complete Atlas; a great variety of appropriate Views; and numerous other Engravings, illustrative of the Manners, Customs, and Costume of Nations.

BY THOMAS MYERS, L.L.D.,

Late of the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich.

This valuable Work is also re-publishing in MONTHLY PARTS, price 7s. each.—The Publishers have the satisfaction to state, that it has been honoured with the most flattering testimonials of approbation, as may be seen in the detailed Prospectus, which may be had of all respectable Booksellers.

It is preceded by a copious Introduction, commencing with the History of Geography; which is followed by a familiar explanation of its scientific principles. A general delineation of the grand natural features and the principal physical phenomena of the Globe, with their influence on its inhabitants and productions, is next given. The Elements of Political Geography, also, are briefly illustrated; and, to render all reference to other works unnecessary, a full explanation of scientific terms, with a variety of appropriate tables, are added.

The different Sections of the Work contain clear and comprehensive views of the local circumstances and peculiar productions of each country; its works of art and objects of curiosity; its political state and foreign connexions; with the knowledge, manners, and customs of its inhabitants. To these are added such statistical and synoptical tables as exhibit the natural resources, military strength, and commercial importance of each State.

The Illustrations consist of

I. A COPIOUS and COMPLETE ATLAS, comprising FIFTY COLOURED MAPS, from the best Authorities.

II. A series of ELEGANTLY-ENGRAVED VIEWS, comprising

The Cities of London, Edinburgh, and Dublin.

The bending Pillars of Staffa, and Fingal's Cave, in Scotland.

The Giant's Causeway, Ireland.

Views of Copenhagen, Cronsberg, and Helsingborg.

— Mount Hecla and the Great Geyser.

Interior of a Silver Mine.

The Cities of Stockholm, St. Petersburg, and Moscow.

The Amphitheatre of Pola.

The Floating Rafts and inclined Planes of the Russians.

The Cities of Berlin, the Hague, Bourdeaux, Cadix, and Cartagena.

The Amphitheatre of Vespasian, and the Ruins of Palmyra.

The Cities of Lisbon, Constantinople, and Porto Ferrajo.

La Valetta and Gibraltar.

Views in China, India, and other Parts of Asia.

Ditto Africa, America, and the West Indies.

III. SEVERAL PLATES of COSTUMES, a MAP of MOUNTAINS, and other ENGRAVINGS, illustrative of the Scientific parts of the subject; the whole comprehending (exclusive of the Atlas) SIXTY-ONE elegantly-engraved Copper-plates by the first Artists.

Books recently published by Sherwood, Jones, and Co.

THE GEOGRAPHY, HISTORY, and STATISTICS, of NORTH and SOUTH AMERICA, and the WEST INDIES. By H. C. CAREY and W. LEA. With considerable Additions relative to the NEW STATES of South America, Mexico, &c. In one large volume 8vo., illustrated with several coloured Maps, Charts, and Views. Price 18s. in boards.

"The publication before us contains by far the most valuable condensation of American Geography, History, and Statistics, which has issued from the Press. It is constructed on a comprehensive and excellent plan; the Maps, Charts, and Plates, are numerous and well executed; and when all the modern information required by the changes and revolutions on the New Continent is taken into the account, we are free to say, that it is a very complete illustration of the important matters which it embraces."—Literary Gazette, March 23.

MEXICO; from the Spanish Conquest to the present Era; containing a condensed and general View of the Manners, Customs, Religion, Commerce, Soil, and Agriculture; animal, vegetable, and mineral Productions; a concise political and statistical Review of the Changes effected in that Country, with its present Form of Government, &c. &c. Also, Observations, speculative and practical, as to the best means of working the Mexican Mines, by a combination of British talent, capital, and machinery. By NICHOLAS MILL, Esq. In 8vo. 10s. 6d. in boards.

NEW RUSSIA. A JOURNEY from RIGA to the CRIMEA, by way of KIEV; with some Account of the Colonization, and of the Manners and Customs of the Colonists of New Russia; to which is added, a Second Edition of Notes relating to the Crim Tartars. By MARY HOLDERNESS. In one volume 8vo., illustrated with coloured plates of Costumes, &c. Price 10s. 6d. in boards.

"In taking leave of Mrs. Holderness, we have great pleasure in assuring her that her volume makes a near approximation to the sort of work which we are glad to encourage from intelligent English Residents abroad.—It bears every where the stamp of good sense, observation, and truth."—Quarterly Review.

A NEW GENERAL ATLAS, Containing a COMPLETE SET OF MAPS, drawn from the best authorities, of all the principal Kingdoms and States in the world; to which is prefixed, an Introduction to Geography, and on the Construction and Use of Maps. By THOMAS MYERS, L.L.D., Author of the New and Comprehensive System of Modern Geography, &c. &c. In 4to. price One Guinea, half-bound; or full coloured, 11. 11s. 6d.

This Atlas includes all the recent discoveries; and the boundaries of the several states are carefully delineated, on an entirely New Set of Plates, agreeably to the present improved state of Geographical Science, so as to exhibit, with fidelity, the various natural and political distinctions. The Introductory Dissertations will be found to possess a degree of novelty hitherto unattempted in works of this nature; a variety of practical illustrations, examples, and precepts, having been introduced, by attention to which the student may easily acquire a competent knowledge of the natural and political divisions of the globe, and of the relative extent and positions of its various empires, kingdoms, and states.

HORTICULTURE.

The HORTICULTURAL REPOSITORY, containing Delineations of the best Varieties of the different Species of English Fruit, in which the Fruit is represented in its natural size; the whole work comprehending nearly Two Hundred Specimens of the choicest species, beautifully coloured after Nature; accompanied with full descriptions of their various properties, times of ripening, and directions for planting them, so as to produce a longer succession of fruit; such being pointed out as are particularly calculated for open walls, and for forcing. By G. BROOKSHAW, Author of the "Pomona Britannica." In two volumes royal 8vo., price 6l. 10s. boards; or may be had in 28 Monthly Parts, by one or more at a time, at the original price of 5s. each.

London, March 1, 1825.

IRISH TOPOGRAPHY.

THE BEAUTIES OF IRELAND:

BEING

Original Delineations,

TOPOGRAPHICAL, HISTORICAL, AND BIOGRAPHICAL,
OF EACH COUNTY.

BY J. N. BREWER, ESQ.

Author of the Introductory Volume to the Beauties of England and Wales, and of the Historical and Topographical Surveys of Oxfordshire, Warwickshire, and the County of Middlesex, forming Parts of the same Work.

ILLUSTRATED WITH NUMEROUS COPPER-PLATE

ENGRAVINGS,

REPRESENTING PUBLIC EDIFICES; CASTLES; CATHEDRALS; PAROCHIAL CHURCHES, EMINENT FOR BEAUTY, OR ANTIQUITY OF ARCHITECTURE; RUINS; PICTURESQUE SCENERY; SEATS OF NOBILITY AND GENTRY, &c. &c.
THE WHOLE OF THE ENGRAVINGS

BY J. & H. S. STORER,

AFTER ORIGINAL DRAWINGS MADE FOR THIS WORK, CHIEFLY
BY MR. PETRIE, OF DUBLIN.

IT is universally acknowledged, that a Work descriptive of the Natural Features, and illustrative of the Topography and Antiquities of the whole of Ireland, is a desideratum in Literature. On this unexplored region, (for such it may be termed in regard to general delineation.) Nature has shed her richest varieties. The scenery displayed in many parts of the country may be said to realize the glowing pictures of a poetical imagination, and is allowed, by the few travellers with whom it is familiar, to equal that of the most admired districts of Switzerland and Italy. To the credit of Englishmen, Fashion is progressively leading the way to an examination and due estimate of charms so transcendent; and, until he has obtained an acquaintance with these latent beauties of the British Empire, no Englishman can be justified, on a principle of taste, in entering upon foreign travels in search of the picturesque.

The Antiquities comprise numerous Cromlechs; Funeral Tumuli; Military Earthworks; some supposed unique vestiges of the Primitive Inhabitants, or their early Invaders; and round or pillar Towers, peculiar to Ireland, and equally curious in construction and mysterious as to original appropriation.

THE BEAUTIES OF IRELAND.

Descending to ages less remotely allied with existing manners, we find, in the remains of ancient Religious Buildings, many architectural beauties hitherto unnoticed, and some singularities of style, which induced a late distinguished writer (Mr. Gough) to assert that, "this country exhibits, in several tracts, a species of architecture by no means deformed, and yet differing exceedingly both from the Grecian orders, and from the Gothic style of building adopted in Britain."

The Topographer less recondite in speculation, has scarcely yet ascertained the extent of intelligence to be derived from a collection of the memorable circumstances connected with many Towns, Castles, and Noble Seats, possessing, whilst indistinct in the present gloom of neglect, a name that "stands more for number than account." Few countries are more affluent in topographical anecdote, for few indeed have experienced greater vicissitudes of fortune; and the peculiarities of manners, retained by a large part of the inhabitants, add to the interest and the value of local inquiries.

Impressed with these convictions, the Author of the Work now submitted to Public Notice has devoted to researches connected with the Topography of Ireland the literary amusement of several years. Whilst engaged in this pursuit, he has been honoured with the correspondence of some of the most able and distinguished residents in each of the four Irish provinces. But the most important assistance, as regards the Province of Leinster, has been derived from the extensive Manuscript Collections of his literary friend, Colonel Hervey De Montmorency, K. St. L. which have been unreservedly opened for his use, by that learned member of an illustrious family, long conspicuous in the annals of Ireland.

This Publication is intended to class with the BEAUTIES OF ENGLAND AND WALES, and will be comprised in Three Volumes, Octavo.

The First Volume, embellished with Twelve Engravings of Noblemen and Gentlemen's Seats, and other picturesque objects, in the Counties of Dublin, Clare, Cork, Kerry, Kildare, Kilkenny, Limerick, Queen's County, Meath, Rosecommon, Tipperary, and Wicklow, is this day published, price 1*l.* 4*s.* in boards, in demy 8vo.; or on royal paper, with proof impressions of the plates, 1*l.* 16*s.* in boards. For the accommodation of the Public who may prefer that mode of publication, the Work is also publishing in Monthly Parts (to be continued on the 1st of every month), price 4*s.* each; or on Royal Paper, 6*s.*

FERGUSON'S LECTURES on EXPERIMENTAL PHILOSOPHY, Mechanics, and Astronomy. New and improved Edition, in one volume, 8vo., with copious Notes, adapting the work to the present state of Science, by C. F. PARTINGTON, of the London Institution, Author of an Historical and Descriptive Account of the Steam-Engine. Illustrated with Plates and numerous Cuts. Accompanied with a Memoir and Portrait of the Author. Price 10s. 6d. in boards.

This edition possesses an advantage over all others, in the diagrams being placed throughout the work in their proper places, in connexion with the letter-press description. The Cuts are very numerous and well executed.

The BEAUTIES of MODERN LITERATURE, in Verse and Prose. To which is prefixed a preliminary View of the Literature of the Age. By M. M'DERMOT, Esq. Elegantly printed in an octavo volume, price 14s. in boards.

This work comprehends the spirit of English literature throughout the year 1823; its contents comprising a variety of interesting and very diversified subjects, from "grave to gay, from lively 'severe,'" accompanied with critical remarks by the Editor.

A CRITICAL DISSERTATION on the Nature and Principles of TASTE. By M. M'DERMOT, Esq. Elegantly printed in 8vo. Price 12s. in boards.

In this volume the various theories adopted by former writers are critically examined, the author entering into a philosophical investigation of all the important questions connected, not only with Taste itself, but with its proper objects. The work will be found to contain, in all respects, an original view of the subject, both in design and execution.

Also, by the same Author,

A PHILOSOPHICAL INQUIRY into the Source of the Pleasures derived from TRAGIC REPRESENTATIONS. Uniform with the above, price 12s. in boards.

"No stronger proof of the interest this question has always carried with it can be adduced, than the attention it has excited both in ancient and modern philosophers. The inquiry is urged by Mr. M'Dermot to its full extent; and we must in candour say, that he in no instance attempts to shun the difficulty connected with his research."—Critical Gazette.

"The book is ably and instructively written."—Gent. Mag.

A NEW GUIDE to PARIS, from the latest Observations; being altered from the Work entitled 'How to enjoy Paris.' By PETER HERVE. Third Edition, illustrated with Maps and Plates, price 10s. in boards.

This Work contains an accurate and critical Description of the Buildings, Antiquities, Paintings, Theatres, Literature, Politics, and Religion, as well as of the Manners of the Inhabitants; forming the most comprehensive Guide hitherto published, and calculated for the entertainment and information of persons who, without visiting, are desirous of becoming acquainted with the Metropolis of France. To which are added, Directions for Travelling in the least expensive manner, by three different Routes; an Account of the Environs of Paris; and a copious Index.

"The work, on the whole, is very amusing, even to a resident in Paris, and to a stranger it is highly instructive. We hesitate not to pronounce it the best Guide to Paris extant."—Lit. Chron.

10.

A New Edition of Sir W. BLACKSTONE'S COMMENTARIES on the LAWS of ENGLAND. By JOHN WILLIAMS, Esq., of the Inner Temple. In 4 volumes, 8vo., with a fine Portrait of the Learned Judge. Price 2l. 4s. in boards.

"* * * This Edition (which, while in MS. received the approbation of a late eminent Advocate and Statesman) contains the last corrections of the Author, as also the variations of reading between the first and subsequent editions, respecting the Liberty of the Subject; together with copious Comments and Annotations, the correction of nearly two hundred errors and misstatements of the learned Commentator; and is preceded by the Author's own ANALYSIS of the Work, omitted in former Editions. It is also THE LAST EDITION of that celebrated work, and brings down the Law sixteen years later than any other edition extant.

The LAWS RELATING to the CLERGY; being a Practical Guide to the Clerical Profession in the legal and canonical discharge of their various duties, and forming a body of Ecclesiastical Law; with Instructions to Candidates for Holy Orders, and the Papers, Certificates, Testimonials, &c., necessary to be sent to the Bishop on being ordained Deacon or Priest;—on Appointments to Curacies and Lectureships; and on institution to Benefices: together with the Forms of Certificates of Residence, of Petitions for License of Non-residence; a Digest of the Law of Tithes, &c. &c. Alphabetically arranged. By the Rev. DAVID WILLIAMS, M.A., late of Christ Church, Oxford.
Second Edition, in one large Volume, 8vo., price 16s. in boards.

GRAY'S BOOK of ROADS, on an entirely new Plan; shewing, at one view, the various Lines of Route leading to any required point of Distance; and the Index so arranged, as to enable a direct and immediate Reference to any required Route, at whatever principal Town or Watering-place the Traveller may happen to be. Price 7s. half-bound; or, with a complete set of County Maps, 12s. With coloured Maps, 15s.

"This is the most useful travelling companion with which we are acquainted. Its compact form, though a great, is not its only, recommendation. The various routes which connect any two places are seen at a single glance; many new lines of road are pointed out; and any required route from any given place to any other, whether it be along the principal or cross-roads, is, from the novel mode adopted in this book, traced out with the greatest facility. In reducing such a mass of information into so small a compass, a portion of the topographical details to be found in some works of this kind is or course omitted. But this is a very trifling deduction from the general merit of the book, when put in contrast with its complete information in respect to the roads, the readiness with which this information is presented to the traveller, and the neat, compact form of the volume."

OLIVER CROMWELL, and his TIMES. By THOMAS CROMWELL. In 8vo., with a Portrait. Second Edition, price 16s. in boards.

"The Author of the present volume has done more to portray the true character of Cromwell than any preceding writer."—Literary Chronicle.

14.

LADY JANE GREY and her TIMES. By GEORGE HOWARD, Esq. Elegantly printed, and embellished with an accredited Likeness, and numerous Cuts. Price 12s. in boards.

This volume illustrates the intervening period of history between the Reigns of Henry VIII. and Elizabeth. "The Author has been happy in his choice of subject; for, though the life of the heroine scarcely extended to seventeen years, yet the period which may be called 'Her Times' embraces many of the most important facts connected with our constitution, both political and religious."—New Monthly Magazine.

15.

THE IONIAN; or, WOMAN in the NINETEENTH CENTURY. By Miss RENOU, Author of Village Conversations, the Temple of Truth, &c. Elegantly printed in Three Volumes, Price One Guinea, in boards.

"The style of this Work is glowing, energetic, and ardent. The Author has not only rendered it truly interesting from beginning to end, but she has also strongly inculcated those principles of morality, religion, piety, and virtue, without which, all works of feeling and imagination are poison to the mind that feels any charm in their influence."—European Magazine.

MORRICE ON BREWING AND MALTING.

A PRACTICAL TREATISE on BREWING the various sorts of Malt Liquor, and the Mode of using the Thermometer and Saccharometer rendered easy to every Capacity; the whole forming a complete Guide in brewing London Porter, Brown Stout, and every other Description of Ale and Beer. To which are added, General Instructions for making Malt, Tables of the Excise Duties, &c. &c. By ALEXANDER MORRICE, Common Brewer. Sixth Edition; with the Laws relating to Brewers and Maltsters, by JOHN WILLIAMS, Esq. Price 8s. in boards.

POULTRY, PIGS, AND MILCH COWS.

A PRACTICAL TREATISE on Breeding, Rearing, and Fattening all kinds of Domestic Poultry, Pheasants, Pigeons, and Rabbits.—Also on Breeding, Feeding, and Managing Swine, Milch Cows, and Bees. Fifth Edition, enlarged by a Treatise on Breeding, adapted to the use of Private Families. By BONINGTON MOUBRAY, Esq. Price 7s. in boards.

The Chapter on Breeding may be had separately, to complete former Editions, price 1s.

"Mr. Moubray's little Book on the Breeding, Rearing, and Fattening all kinds of Domestic Poultry and Pigs, is unquestionably the most Practical Work on the subject in our language. By adopting its plan, any Family may furnish their table with the above luxuries at one-third of the price they are obliged to pay at the markets; and the Farmer and Breeder may render it the source of considerable profit. In the Fifth Edition, just published, its utility is considerably increased by the addition of a chapter on Breeding, adapted to the means of private families."—Farmer's Journ.

A COMPLETE COUNTY ITINERARY.

THIS WORK, comprehending the Ancient and Modern History of the British Islands, their Topography, Natural History, Commerce, Agriculture, and Civil and Domestic Economy, deduced from authentic Sources, sufficiently ample, without being unnecessarily diffuse, had long been a  desideratum  in English Literature; and it was with a view of supplying this defect, that the present Work was undertaken.

It will be readily admitted, a perfect acquaintance with the local History and internal Advantages of our Native Country is one of the most useful, ornamental, and desirable branches of Human Knowledge; and there is not, perhaps, a Country in the World more generally interesting to the Scientific Observer, than that of GREAT BRITAIN.

The Plan of this Work has received particular approbation, from each County being divided into Easy Journeys; by which means, Persons, either riding, or on foot, have the opportunity of viewing many Beauties, which might not otherwise be noticed.

To Frequenters of the various WATERING PLACES in the Kingdom, it will be found a most agreeable Guide and Companion.

LAMBERT'S GENUS PINUS,

Vol. II.

Being a description of the Genus Pinus, illustrated with Figures, directions relative to the cultivation, and remarks on the uses of the several species. By AYLMER BOURKE LAMBERT, Esq. F.R.S.; F.S.A.; Vice President of the Linnean Society, and Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences at Madrid, &c. &c.

Printed for JOHN GALE, Bruton Street, Bond Street;
and ROBERT JENNINGS, in the Poultry.

This Work consists of Plates and description of Species of the Genus intirely new, and the most magnificent hitherto discovered; which, as they will bear the climate of this country, they cannot fail to be an important acquisition to the Parks and Plantations, both in usefulness and ornament. Besides the Genus Pinus, it includes likewise descriptions of many other new Species of the Family of Conifera.

A Plate is given, with a History of the interesting tree which produces the tea of Paraguay; and in an Appendix, a full account of the Lambertian Herbarium, by Mr. DON.

*** The First Volume having become exceedingly scarce, it is in contemplation to reprint it. Noblemen and Gentlemen desirous of possessing copies, are requested to send their names to the Publishers, or to their respective Booksellers, as the delivery will be regulated according to the order of Subscription. Twelve Sets will be coloured in the most finished Style of the Art, by Sowerby, after the original Drawings.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

Mr. EDEN, Surgeon Dentist, 45, Threadneedle Street,
(late with Mr. Fox)

Respectfully informs his numerous Friends and the Public, that he continues to supply Natural or Artificial Teeth on superior principles "WITHOUT TYING." The peculiar advantages of these Teeth are, they operate as a support to those which remain in the mouth (if any) and prevent their approximation, and even loose Teeth are held firm in the sockets by their aid; they may be taken out and replaced by the wearer with facility, and will continue securely fixed on the Gums, they will retain their colour, perform mastication, assist articulation, and cannot be distinguished from those of natural growth. The inconveniences attending the loss of Teeth are too well known to require comment; but to those who have not experienced the comforts of Artificial, Mr. EDEN is desirous of showing some of the difficulties more or less endured by every individual without Teeth. When the Teeth fall, the destruction of their Sockets invariably ensues, the one cannot exist without the other, the process of absorption commences immediately the Tooth is extracted, or, in many cases, the Gum and Sockets waste away and cause the Teeth to become loose and drop out; when the Teeth are gone and their Sockets absorbed a great vacuum is left in the mouth, which occasions every muscle in the face to be distorted, and the eyes, the nose, the lips, and chin are sadly disfigured and drawn from their original position. These Artificial Teeth are constructed to supply this defect of Nature, and gradually to restore the features to that uniformity so essentially requisite to a youthful appearance and perfect articulation; the contrivance being mechanical it is performed without any pain.
