Statement on harmful and offensive content

The Hunt Institute Archives contains hundreds of thousands of pages of historical content, writing and images, created by thousands of individuals connected to the botanical sciences. Due to the wide range of time and social context in which these materials were created, some of the collections contain material that reflect outdated, biased, offensive and possibly violent views, opinions and actions. The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation does not endorse the views expressed in these materials, which are inconsistent with our dedication to creating an inclusive, accessible and anti-discriminatory research environment. Archival records are historical documents, and the Hunt Institute keeps such records unaltered to maintain their integrity and to foster accountability for the actions and views of the collections' creators.

Many of the historical collections in the Hunt Institute Archives contain personal correspondence, notes, recollections and opinions, which may contain language, ideas or stereotypes that are offensive or harmful to others. These collections are maintained as records of the individuals involved and do not reflect the views or values of the Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation or those of Carnegie Mellon University.

About the Institute

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library.

Dear Mrs. Langman:

We have received a request from Katherine Camp of the Yearly Meeting's Peace Committee to provide a speaker for the Norristown Jewish Center's Social Action Committee. They are looking for a speaker on South America for the third Monday in April. The time is to be at 1:00.

Lucy Garner tells me that you instituted a study group on this subject for the W. I. L., and I am wondering if you would be willing to fill this assignment.

Incidentally, this group has no money for fees, but they do pay expenses.

I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope for your convenience in replying.

Sincerely,

Ann R. Schabacker

Dear Mrs. Langman:

When I last spoke with you the name of Dr. Henry Wells was suggested, as a possible speaker on the subject of South America. Since then I have been in touch with him, and he tells me that he is already over-committed for the present year.

Are you willing to speak to this group in Norristown? The date is to be April 20th, and you may recall that it was the Norristown Jewish Center's Social Action Committee that made the original request. It is not a large group I understand, and is made up of young women, for whom a baby-sitting service is provided. Coffee is served at 12:30 and the meeting starts at 1:00, ending by 2:30.

I am grateful for the suggestions you have made. Some time in the future I shall get in touch with some of these people again, and perhaps then they will be available.

In the meantime, if you are willing to fill this request will you send me a little information about yourself, so that I may pass it along to the group?

Sincerely,

Ann R. Schabacker

Philadelphia, Penna.

Dear Mrs. Langman,

We are all so happy you are able to speak to our Social Action group on "Our Social, Economic and Political Involvement with South America." As you know our meeting date is April 20. We serve coffee at 12:30 and our program starts promptly at 1:00. We try to end as closely to 2:30 as we can so the mothers can run home to pick up their children. We also provide nursery service for pre-school children.

I am especially looking forward to meeting you as I am also a member of WIL.(the Norristown-Plymouth Branch).

Our Social Action group meets at the Norristown Jewish Community Center, Brown and Powell Sts., Norristown, Pa. Miss Schabacker of the Philadelphia Peace Center said you would like to come in by the Reading Railroad. If so I would be most happy to pick you up there, or if you could send me directions maybe I could pick you up at your home. I am enclosing a Reading Railroad schedule for you. If you have any questions, please feel free to call me at BR9-1099.

Thank you again for your willingness to share your knowledge with us.

Sincerely,

Joan Gluckman (Co-chairman of Social Action)
