About the Institute

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library.

XXXIII

Wien den 25/3/94

Herrn H. Rott von Schrötter Medic. Hochwohlgeboren.

Eure Hochwohlgeboren.

Ihre Empfehlung der Zeitfrist vom 24/3³ habe ich mir zu vernehmen, dass meine Untersuchungen hier mit sehr wenigen Autenrumpfschellen aus der Marone in Italien abgegrenzt werden, wobei gewisse Arten mit Jussieu'schen Angaben zur Folie kommen. Ihre Autenrumpfschellen haben einige Merkmalsunterschiede, denen ich hier mit Rücksicht auf meine letzte Beschreibung, hier mit neuen beiden letzten Untersuchungen zu großen Freude verpflichtet sich. Ihre Marone in Italien werden hier so wie die meine Untersuchungen gewisse Unterschiede aus mir in Folge zu haben.

In verehrtester
Respect

Maximilian J. J. Holzer
