About the Institute

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library.

Wir sind jetzt in Boston angelangt, um wie wir auch Cambridge (Prof. Robinson) besuchen. In Philadelphia's Wägen wir sehr gerne, doch sind solche Dingen kein Vergnügen. Morgen Abend fahren wir nach New York zurück, für welchen ich dann 3 Tage habe. Die Segel zwischen New York und Boston liegt der Höhe ist sehr beladung der politischen Scheidung. Das die Angelegenheit ist, auch vor meine Ankunft erledigt wurde, ist wichtig von großer Wichtigkeit für mich. Der Mann ist offenbar pathologisch veranlagt und hat mich in der Nacht

Translation of post card from Mr. Adolf Engler to his wife Marie
Engler, dated 13 October 1913 (?)

Dear Marie:

We have just arrived at Boston. From here we are going to visit Cambridge (Prof. Robertson (?)). In Philadelphia we were honored very much, but such things are very strenuous. I am going back to New York for three days tomorrow evening. The coast between New York and Boston reminds me of the coast of southern Sweden. I was very happy that the problem with M. had been solved before my arrival here. Apparently that man is a little pathological.

With kindest regards,

Yours,

Adolf
