About the Institute

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library.

Monsieur,

Veuillez agréer mes remerciements les plus sincères pour votre intéressante lettre du 3 courant et surtout pour les précieuses notes que vous avez fait la peine de m'adresser dans mon herbier.

Nous les avons parcourues avec le plus vif intérêt en compagnie de nouvelle valeur lorsque nous serons en possession de votre monographie

Les 3 festuca que vous avez bien voulu ajouter à ma collection me font très plaisir : peut-être qu'un jour vous pourriez disposer en notre faveur de quelques festuca austriaca?

Vous me réjouissez en voulant bien diviser la communication de mes Beck-nia et. Soc. ; je demande à Dieu qu'il vous accorde les grâces nécessaires pour mener à bien votre utile et intéressant travail.

Très humblement
votre
M. J. B. Arbez
